

scription of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known. The worms which infest the human body are of four kinds viz.—The Tape-worm, the round worm; the Ascaris, or small man-worm; the Cucurbitus, or short flat white worm; and the Tania, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is many yards long and is full of seeds. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; swelling in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes loss of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy stools; vomiting; large and hard stools; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive sweating; sometimes pale and unhealthy appearance, and sometimes the face is red and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Syringes, which have been constantly used with success in all complaints similar to those above described. A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will equally prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given in every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard. A safe and effectual remedy for rheumatism, gout, palsy, sprains and bruises, and swellings of old strains and relaxations, numbness and weakness of the neck, and of the side head ache, swollen faces, swollen limbs and every similar complaint. It prevents chilblains or chapped hands, and the ill effects of getting wet or damp the feet.

The Genuine Persian Lotion. So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes from the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural insensible perspiration which is essential to health, yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Damask Lip Salve—Restorative Powder for the teeth and gums. This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the morbid humors and foulness which, if allowed to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative. Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavorable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication, any other destructive intemperance, the unskillful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in &c. Hamilton's Elixir for Coughs, Colds &c.

Celebrated for the cure of colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas and approaching consumptions and a certain remedy for the hooping cough.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water. A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Toothache Drops. The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch. Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

The above celebrated MEDICINES are prepared at LEE'S Patent Medicine Warehouse New-York.—It is sold wholesale & retail at the Dispensary of JAMES KENNEDY & SON, King-street, who are sole agents for Alexandria.

At the place of sale pamphlets will be had gratis, describing cures prescribed by the above medicines; the manner of their use, and the respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

RELIGION.

Heavenly balm! forever blest!
The Christian's only food;
By good and wicked, all confessed—
Eternal, just and good.

How blest the man that gently feels
The goodness of thy grace;
Whilst through his heart it softly steals,
And decks his placid face.

Though destitute of earthly store,
Yet in his heart we find Riches eternal evermore,
A God forever kind.

'Tis sweet to love the holy God—
To bow our souls to him—
To kiss with fear the chast'ning rod,
And wash away our sin.

To raise our hearts with humble fears,
Before his sovereign face;
To feel him wipe away our tears,
And shed his heavenly grace.

Then why will man, who thus might know
His pure and boundless love—
Might taste a heaven of hope below,
A heaven of joy above—

Forsake the way that he has laid,
Despise his holy word,
Trample on laws that he has made,
And spurn his Saviour Lord!

JULIUS.

Solution of the question proposed by A. N.
in Saturday's Gazette.

Let x = length of the body
9 = " " head
then $9 \times x$ = " " tail and $9 \times 9 \times x$ = " " body
Hence we have this equation:
 $9 \times 9 \times x = x$ or $18 \times 18 \times x = 2 \times x$ and $x = 18 \times 18 = 36$ = length body 9 = head
27 = tail
72 = whole length

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The following article is copied from the Exeter, (N. H.) Watchman, of September 9.

When our readers are told that nearly two hundred Newspapers are circulated over our country, some issued weekly, some semi-weekly, and some every day, it is not surprising that they should complain that we do not gather from so many sources a greater variety of new and interesting matter, than is generally found in our paper. To justify observation against so reasonable a complaint, we shall occasionally present a short abstract of the contents of these "multitudinous" newspapers.

To commence then our plan with the past year, we can easily describe the manner in which printers have contrived to fill their sheets. Every body knows that during this period, there have been no wars at home or abroad, except a perpetual skirmishing in South America. There have been no revolutions, nor earthquakes, or any such convenient topics of editorial speculation; but luckily some one event has always followed upon the heels of another, which by dint of copying and recopying, has kept up a newspaper supply during this peaceful year. Dividing this period into three equal parts, we find that each has been providentially provided with a newspaper subject in the following order—The Grub Worm (killed by the rain), The President's Tour (which is now tapering off), and the Gloamster Serpent (which cannot be caught). Each of these matter-of-fact topics has been regularly served up in its turn, occasionally interspersed with battles in South America, (which has not taken place)—and Warden's letters about Bonaparte, (lately discovered to be a forgery). This has been the stock of News, which, by the arts of copying, digesting, embellishing and moralizing, has supplied about 6 hundred Newspapers for nearly a year. If we add to the above topics a few others, such as Riley's Narrative, Missionary Societies, Connecticut election, Emigration to the West, and the Baltimore foundation, we shall have a comprehensive view of all the matter, which by means of its infinite divisibility, has been expanded over so many millions of sheets for so many months. Besides these wholesale subjects, almost every State has had some topic of local interest adopted to all the purposes of newspaper quarrelling and speculation. In New-York, the Grand Canal is setting the people of that state by the ears with calculations and measurements, and prophecies, one asserting that it is impracticable, and the other that it is going on rapidly. The politicians in Pennsylvania are immersed in the calumnies and recriminations of an approaching Election. In Connecticut, the newspapers have discussed the subject of religious Tolerance, till nothing is left in some of them, but intolerance and hostility. In the district of Maine, the papers are attacking the mania of Emigration, and prove their superior agricultural advantages so satisfactorily as to make it advisable for the natives of Ohio to migrate to the more fertile banks of the Penobscot. In Vermont the approaching election occupies the papers.—They have published three tickets of candidates, between which there is probably but little choice.—In New-Hampshire, we have increased the stock of intelligence, by a pair of twain Commencements and a new State House. New Jersey has supplied newspapers with a number of duels, and Kentucky has afforded a few murders of another sort. Such, reader, are the NEWS OF THE DAY.

ADVENTURES OF A TEN POUND NOTE.

Marlborough-street.—Fred. Sharpe and J. Quelch, two boys, were brought up for re-examination, on suspicion of stealing a ten pound note. It appears that on Monday, the prisoners were returning home from West-end Fair, by way of Camden Town, and saw a piece of paper flying in the air, which falling on the road side, one of them had the curiosity to pick it up and found it was a ten pound note. They were both runaway apprentices, and such a present could not fail of being acceptable: they therefore walked to town congratulating each other on their good fortune, but were rather puzzled how to get the note changed—at length it was agreed that Sharp should personate the servant of a Mr. Warren, in Portland Street, and go to the shop of Mr. Thompson, the grocer in Foley place, where he was to pay for a large quantity of raisins to be sent to his master's house and take the change himself. This plan had nearly succeeded, but as he was about to receive the change, he shewed such uneasiness to be off, as to convince Mr. Thompson he had not come by the note honestly: he therefore watched him, and gave him in charge of an officer, together with the other boy. This officer discovered that about the same time a gentleman named Penny, had been robbed of a 10l. note on the same spot, and as the boys prevaricated, he had no doubt but the note could be identified, and the matter brought home to some person—he therefore advertised it, when a gentleman who held an important situation in one of the Government Offices, and who resides in Alfred place Tottenham-court-road, came forward as a claimant. After being sworn, he stated that on Monday he received 2000l. from the Exchequer Office, which he was counting out in his library; he left the note in question on his table after taking the date and number; he then locked the rest in his cash box, which he was about to place in his secretary, when all at once a sudden gust of wind entered the room and the note blew up the chimney?—He had witnessed the whole transaction and was for a moment petrified; but he ran to the door and called in a sweep, who searched the chimney and room, but without effect. He had given up every hope of seeking it again, when one morning at breakfast he was very agreeably surprised to find a description of the very same note advertised. The note was produced, and after being identified and sworn to was delivered to the gentleman, with an admonition not to let it take such another trip to West-end Fair. The prisoners were discharged, and given over to their respective friends. The case excited considerable mirth.

Anecdote of Potemkin, the favourite of Catherine II.

The following Anecdote will afford some idea of the wit and presumption of this young man, who is allowed to possess considerable talents. Happening to be once summoned to council, while engaged at a party of cards, he refused to stir. The astonished messenger unaccustomed to such an instance of disobedience, and afraid of being implicated in his guilt, humbly besought Potemkin to furnish him with an excuse. On this the favorite referred him to the bible, and on being requested to mention the passage, he gaily replied—"In the first psalm, and the first verse, there you will find—"Happy is the man who participateth not in the counsels of the wicked"

ALEXANDRIA:

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1817.

From the National Intelligencer, Sept. 19.

THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN.

Information having reached the District that the President of the United States, on his return home from the performance of the important task he had imposed upon himself, would reach the confines of our territory on Wednesday afternoon, he was received, a few miles above Georgetown, about 4 o'clock, by the mayor of Georgetown, and a deputation from that town, who welcomed his return in an affectionate manner. On arriving at the line of the District, he was met by a numerous cavalcade of citizens on horseback and in carriages, who then became his escort. On arriving at the boundary of Georgetown, he was greeted by a national salute from a detachment of the Georgetown artillery; previous to which, the cavalcade had been met by Captain Thornton's fine troop of Cavalry from Alexandria, who that moment arrived, on a very short notice, and joined the escort in front. A volunteer band of music joined the procession at the same moment, and accompanied it to the end.

The cavalcade passed down High street to Bridge-street, at the intersection of which streets, the star-spangled banner waved over their heads. Continuing down Bridge-street, the President and his escort passed over Rock Creek, at the ford near Williams & Corroll's mill, & thence defiling to Pennsylvania-avenue, proceeded to the President's mansion. On nearing the house, the president was received, with the honors due to his station, by the marine corps, (under the command of Major MILLER,) whose fine military appearance, and excellent band of music, added not a little to the interest of the occasion.

On his arrival at his residence, the president dismounted, and was received by a number of his fellow citizens, who waited his arrival. In behalf of the citizens of Washington who had formed a part of the cavalcade, general J. P. VAN NESS delivered to the president a verbal salutation, nearly in the following words:

I am authorized and requested, sir, by a number of my fellow-citizens who have the honor of attending you upon this occasion, to express to you our full confidence that the people of the District of Columbia, after having viewed with no common satisfaction your late tour among a part of your countrymen—a tour deriving additional interest both from its manner and its objects—cordially congratulate you on your return to the Metropolis. We should do injustice to our own feelings and sentiments, as well as to those of our immediate fellow-citizens, if we were to regard with apparent indifference even any of the public acts of one whose services and merits have exalted him to the first rank in our distinguished nation; and we need not advert to the circumstances constituting this more than an ordinary occasion of that character.

In our present reception of you, sir, whilst we greet you most affectionately, we, at the same time, indulge in the lofty reflection that we are exercising a sacred privilege of freemen, who, whilst they have a right to approve or applaud their public agents, are not compelled to do either, and are too proud to flatter them.

The president, in reply, very politely expressed his acknowledgment for the communication made him; and generally for the marks of esteem he had received from the citizens of the district. He adverted to the object and circumstances of his tour; declaring the strong sense he felt of the manner in which he had been received by his fellow countrymen; spoke of the general prosperity everywhere manifest, which had combined with the necessary labors of his tour the most pleasing enjoyments; and expressed his satisfaction at the many evidences given him, during his progress, of national feeling and attachment to the true principles of the constitution. The president concluded his brief but impressive address, by repeating his sense of the warm reception given him on his return, his ardent wishes for the prosperity of the district, and his sincere satisfaction at the rapidity of the recovery of this city from the misfortunes it had not long since experienced, &c.

The president having entered his dwelling in the midst of the hearty cheers of the spectators, the cavalcade dispersed, leaving the president to that repose which, after such incessant fatigue as he had undergone, nature must have demanded of him.

Salutes were fired from the public works in the City on the president's approach, and in the evening a number of sky-rockets were discharged in honor of the occasion.

The whole scene was no less interesting than novel, and has made impressions on those who witnessed it, that time will not readily efface.

Yesterday, at 12 o'clock, agreeably to the previous arrangement, the mayor of the City of Washington, and the members of the boards of Aldermen and of Common Council waited on the president; and Benjamin G. Orr, esq. the mayor, presented to him, in behalf of the City, the following address:

Mr. President:
Your fellow-citizens and neighbors cannot receive you amongst them after the interesting and useful tour you have taken, without using the occasion to demonstrate their high respect and attachment.

The people, sir, in their undivided and untroubled honors to their chief magistrate, have not only done justice to merit, but have done more, they have strengthened their government by spontaneous manifestations of their happiness and unanimity—they have developed the highly interesting fact, that that system is best which interferes least with the rights inherent in every rational creature, and which secures the blessings of civilization by the moral sense of the nation more than by the coercive arm of the civil and military power.

In the tour which you have just finished, we have sympathized with you in your fatigues, and exulted with you in the extraordinary demonstrations of the nation's love, which, though sometimes oppressive, are always grateful. Despotism rulers obtain the adulation of slaves, who, by their vices, they have made miserable; but you, the choice of a free and enlightened people, receive assurance of approbation and esteem from those who largely participate in rendering happy.

The pleasure which your return affords us is augmented by the consideration that we have now the opportunity of addressing you in the dwelling which the nation has once more prepared for the reception and accommodation of the chief magistrate of the U. States. In these sentiments the mayor, board of aldermen and board of common council, cordially unite with the citizens of Washington, in rendering you the welcome of friendship in the language of candor and in the fullness of affection and confidence.

To which the president returned the following reply:

To the mayor, board of aldermen, and board of common council of the City of Washington.

I cannot express in sufficiently strong terms the gratification I feel in returning to the seat of government, after the long and very interesting tour in which I have been engaged; and I beg you to be assured that nothing can contribute more to dissipate the fatigue to which I have been exposed, than the very cordial reception which has been given me by my fellow-citizens and neighbors, of the city and district.

I shall always look back to the important incidents of my late tour with peculiar satisfaction. I flatter myself that I have derived from it information which will be very useful in the discharge of the duties of the high trust confided to me; and, in other respects, it has afforded me the highest gratification. In all that portion of our country through which I have passed, I have seen, with delight, proofs the most conclusive, of the devotion of our fellow-citizens to the principles of our free republican government, and to our happy union. The spontaneous and independent manner in which these sentiments were declared, by the great body of the people, with other marked circumstances attending them, satisfied me that they came from the heart. United firmly in the support of these great, these vital interests, we may fairly presume that all difficulty on minor questions will disappear.

In returning to the city of Washington, I rejoice to find the public building intended for the accommodation of the chief magistrate in a state to receive me, and to admit within it this friendly interview with you. JAMES MONROE.

We rejoice at the felicitous termination of an enterprise as honorable to the heart as to the judgment of the chief magistrate, and which, we trust, cannot fail to prove of the most solid and lasting benefit to the union, by improving our knowledge of the resources of the nation, by conciliating prejudices, and uniting confidence.

The president was received with distinguished attentions at every place he has passed through, on his approach to the end of his journey.

We have accounts from Hagerstown, &c. of which it may be in general said, that all parties united in every testimonial of respect in their power to pay.

M. Payne, our countryman, is playing at Liverpool. His last cast was "Henry Bertram," in "Guy Rannering."

A letter from New-Orleans states, that the Marquis de Moncada, one of the most influential characters in Mexico, has placed himself at the head of 10 000 Republicans. General Mina is going on pretty well in Santander.

We are particularly requested by Captain Creig, of the brig Amethyst, lately arrived at this port from Demarara, to report the very kind and hospitable treatment he experienced at sea from a Buenos Ayrean privateer, of 16 guns, called the General San Martin, capt. Jose Guillermo Estifanos. This privateer boarded the Amethyst on the 24th August, in lat. 32 13 lon. 71 30. Captain Creig and his mate had both been sick, and had not perfectly recovered. As soon as captain Estifanos became acquainted with this circumstance, he not only sent his surgeon on board, but also a fresh stock of various descriptions, which was attended with the most salutary and beneficial consequences. "I am in duty bound" (says capt. Creig) "to report this conduct with greater praise than my abilities can command." [Boston Chron.

An inaccurate statement having appeared in some of the papers, relative to the late unhappy PAUL POST, master of the ship Union, from Greenock, we are requested to publish the following correct particulars:

The ship Union, capt. Post, sailed from Greenock on the 19th of July. About the 2d of August, capt. P. caught a severe cold, which continued for ten days, five days of which time, it was not known that he took either meat or drink, except a little water. About this time, it was discovered that his mental faculties were impaired. On the 12th of August, at midnight, he called for Mr. Charles Little, the first mate, and on his appearing below, capt. P. told him that "it was now coming near a point, that his gas was run, that he had been unfortunate, and was the poorest man in the ship," and uttered other incoherent expressions. The mate being now fully convinced of his insanity, endeavored to appease him by kind expressions, advising him to go to his berth, etc. which he refused to do. Capt. P. now demanded the long-boat, in which he said he should die in peace.—The mate refused, of course, and to prevent him from escaping, nailed down the cabin window. This enraged capt. P. and the mate was obliged to open the window again. At this time the mate returned to his duty on deck. The steward was then called by capt. Post, to trim the lamp, and give him some drink. Shortly after he called the steward again, and ordered him to call up Mr. Alexander Rennie, a cabin passenger. Mr. Rennie jumped out of his berth, and seated himself on a trunk opposite where capt. Post sat. Capt. P. said, "I merely called you, Mr. Rennie, to bid you good bye." This alarmed Mr. R. who said to the steward, "What does our captain mean?" The steward being much alarmed, was unable to speak. At this moment capt. P. seized a pistol, and pointed it at Mr. Rennie, who instantly made for the companion way, crying murder! murder!—By the time Mr. R. reached the foot of the stairs, the pistol was discharged, and the swan-shot with which it was loaded, went through the bulk-head, and lodged in the trunk of a steerage passenger, passing very near the head of a woman who was in bed with her two children. This produced much confusion among the passengers and crew, who were apprehensive that capt. P. having other fire arms, etc. would commit some dreadful act. As soon as possible, Miss Mary McGuffee, Daniel Campbell, 2d mate, and the steward, rushed out of the cabin, & shut the door after them, to prevent, if possible, any further mischief. In a few minutes after, the whole of the crew, in attempting to go into the cabin, found that the light was out, and the cabin full of smoke. Having obtained another light, they entered the cabin, but discovered that the captain was gone, as well as the pistol he had just before discharged.—The cabin window being open, left no doubt of his having made his escape thence, but at what particular moment was not known, as several minutes had elapsed between the time of firing the pistol, and the crew's entering the cabin. The ship at this time was going at the rate of four or five knots an hour.

Previous to this event, no man, perhaps, ever supported a better character than captain Post.

Mr. Rennie and Miss McGuffee, return their sincere thanks to Mr. Charles Little, and the Steward, for their attention to them after the above melancholy catastrophe.

Extract of a letter giving some particulars respecting the fall of Hattas.

Hattas, March 5.

The fort of Hattas is in our possession: the bombardment of it commenced yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, and was kept up without intermission from forty-two mortars, besides Congreve rockets. fort of Hadrat is in our possession, and the bombardment of it commenced on the morning at 8 o'clock, and was continued in remission from forty-four to five o'clock in the afternoon an explosion of the principal magazine took place, the effect and appearance beyond description, and the air was filled and the scene was awful to be-the ground shook as if an earthquake had taken place, and every man camp, with horror and agitation, declared that the sight was beyond anything he had ever witnessed. The shells continued without a moment's pause till at night, when a party of the enemy made a push through our wakening at the head of the parallel, which already advanced all along the south side, and had taken an easterly direction, passing nearly two sides of the fort, latterly only 65 yards from the counter. This was the signal; the garrison was lying; the troops in the trenches to the gateways; and may be said have actually forced their way in, as they had to push the gates in, and killed or 14 men at the entrance: of course they would ultimately have got in without resistance. The cavalry are flying in the Thakose and his horse, who is gone off towards Mutra; but there is rumor that he has found refuge in Munna. Five hundred prisoners have been made; two hundred perished in the action; many men and more horses been killed by the shells; and the major of the fort is sadly ruined and tired. But for this fortunate event must have had a tedious siege, and many men. The ditch is, at a medium, 120 feet wide and 80 feet deep; the sage into one gateway was cut a way the enemy; the other entrance intricately strong, and commanded by a succession of works. The Rownee has a fine revetment, and rises beautifully above the line of the glacis, just enough every useful purpose. The glacis is not as I have ever seen; the interval works of rather too high a profile; but it all in all it is the strongest fort in the upper provinces. We have been fortunate beyond example in not losing five men killed and eight or ten wounded was the number previous to the action; a few more occurred in the pursuit of the fugitives.

Calcutta, April 8.

We have received letters from colonel Camp, on the 16th ult. On the evening of the 14th express was received at head quarters from a major M-Pheon, of the 10th, communicating the information of captain Doleah having set out in full chase of the Thakose, at 10 P. M. of the 13th, he overtook him the following day at Hendiah, with two companies of the 10th, and a squadron of cavalry. The enemy were completely panic-struck, and fled men and horses into the river about offering to oppose the troops. A great many men were drowned in attempting to pass the river, and a considerable number killed by the fire of the 10th. The Thakose is supposed to be in the plain. The Nagpore Subsidiary force is at present considerably scattered, but as soon as the Nerbudda is sufficiently dried to prevent the Pandurians in forcing it, several of the detachments will be removed from their present positions. That at Coteh is to march to Assanabad, about three days' march from their present encampment.

Fauquier Land for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his farm, called "CULLINS," situated in the county of Fauquier, on Kettle Run, and adjoining the lands of Messrs. Samuel Weaver, Jacob Weaver, and others. 7 miles from Fauquier Court House, 33 miles from Alexandria, and 3 from the Buckland Mills, containing about 400 acres; a considerable portion of which is now in very heavy timber, the balance cleared and in cultivation, including about 80 acres of the first quality bottom land, which, with a small portion of labor, might be made to produce a large quantity of hay. This land lies well, and is in a good neighborhood, and finely watered, Kettle Run passing through the farm. To a person disposed to purchase land for the purpose of cultivating and improving it himself, the above offers great advantages, as the plaster Paris & clover acts on no land more efficaciously than on this.

Also, one other farm, lying immediately adjoining, containing the like number of 400 acres; about one half of which has been cleared, the balance well set in timber.

The above farms will be sold together or separately, as may suit purchasers. For terms, which will be liberal, apply to the subscriber, residing near the premises.

A valuable Farm for Sale.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry. Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George I. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Piscataway Property for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of Prince George's county court, sitting as a court of chancery, the subscriber, as trustee, appointed by the honorable judges thereof, will sell at public sale, in the town of Piscataway, on Friday, 3d October next, the following very valuable property, to wit:

A very handsomely improved and desirable lot at the lower end of the town, formerly the residence of the late Jacob Duckett, Esq. on which, besides a neat dwelling, is every other convenient house for a family.

Attached to this lot is an extremely commodious store house, of 30 by 27 feet, having a dry cellar of same dimensions, and granaries calculated to hold 6 or 7,000 bushels, with stabling for 4 horses. Adjoining this is a 7 or 8 acre lot, well enclosed, of rich soil, with a large barn and prize shed on it.

It not sooner disposed of by private sale, he will then offer at public sale, 8 or 10 acres of meadow land, now well set in timothy, and immediately adjoining the town. Also, 150 acres of land, distant about 2 miles therefrom, very heavily wooded. To those engaged in the carrying of wood to the District, this latter would be worth attention. All the above property will be sold on a credit of 1, 2 and 3 years, purchasers giving good security on bond with interest from 1st January next, when possession will be given.

Land for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Haywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land, abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Mr. McPherson—the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly susceptible of improvement, from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, particularly in New-York Philadelphia Baltimore Petersburg Richmond Norfolk Edenton Wilmington Charleston and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has under Providence preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation of various dangerous complaints arising from worms and from obstructions or foulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known. Worms which infest the human system are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The round or large round worm; the Ascaris or small maw-worm; the Tape-worm or flat white worm; and lastly, the Tania or tape-worm, which is often many yards long and is found in its resemblance to tape. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted itching in the nose, and about the mouth; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and bellying; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever with small and regular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and uncountenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and itching of children—a dreadful disease which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for rheumatism gout palsy sprains and bruises white swellings old strains and rheumatism numbness and weakness of the joints pains of the side head ache swelled frozen limbs and every similar complaint. It prevents chilblains or chapped hands and the ill effects of getting wet or cold in the feet.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin freckles pimples inflammatory redness scurfs tetters worms sunburns prickly heat &c. Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural insensible perspiration which is essential to health, yet effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Damask Lip Salve—Restorative Powder for the teeth and gums.

This excellent preparation combines and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness which suffered to accumulate, never fails to cure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication or any other destructive intemperance, the unskilful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at certain period of life, bad lyings in &c.

Hamilton's Elixir for Coughs, Colic &c.

Celebrated for the cure of colds, catarrhs, coughs, asthma and approaching consumptions and a certain remedy for the hooping cough.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature's weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at once application, may be used with perfect safety on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smarting which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

The above celebrated MEDICINES are prepared at LEE'S Patent Medicine Warehouse New-York—and sold wholesale & retail at the Bookstore of JAMES KENNEDY & SON, King street, who are sole agents for Alexandria.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
